8. Rights of data subjects

The GDPR grants you various rights with regard to your personal data, which are briefly described below.

a) Right of access

You may obtain confirmation as to whether or not your personal data is being processed. Where this is the case, you may obtain access to information on the purposes of the processing, the categories of personal data concerned, the recipients, the storage period or, if not possible, the criteria used to determine that period, as well as further information.

You may obtain a copy of your personal data. Where such a request is made by e-mail, the data will be provided to you in a commonly used electronic form, provided that this does not adversely affect the rights and freedoms of others. For this purpose, please specify precisely which data you require.

b) Rectification

You may obtain without undue delay the rectification of inaccurate personal data concerning you as well as the completion of incomplete personal data.

c) Erasure

You have the right to obtain the erasure of your personal data, in particular if the data is no longer necessary in relation to the purposes for which it was processed. Your data will be erased without undue delay, unless an exception exists and your data may continue to be stored. This is the case, for example, if there is an obligation to store the data for tax or commercial law reasons. In this case, processing will be restricted and will then only take place for this purpose.

d) Restriction of processing

You may obtain restrictions of the processing of your personal data, in particular if

- you contest its accuracy, and the data can be verified;
- the processing is unlawful, and you oppose its erasure;
- the data is no longer required, but you require it for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims; or
- you have objected to processing.

Where processing has been restricted, your personal data will in principle only be stored and in particular only be processed with your consent or for the establishment, exercise and defense of legal claims.

e) Data portability

You have the right to obtain the personal data concerning you, which you have provided, in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format in order to transmit this data to another controller. You also have the right to have this data transmitted directly to another data controller. A prerequisite for this right, however, is that the processing of your data is based on consent, the implementation of pre-contractual measures or the performance of a contract and the processing is carried out by automated means.

f) Objection

You may object to the processing of the personal data concerning you if the processing is based on a legitimate interest (Art. 6 (1) sentence 1 (f) GDPR). Your right to object also applies in the event of any direct advertising carried out (e.g. newsletter distribution), including any associated profiling. The data will then no longer be processed, unless compelling grounds for the processing are demonstrated.

g) Withdrawal of consent to processing

If you have consented to the processing of your personal data, you may withdraw this consent at any time. Any processing based on consent before withdrawal will remain unaffected.

h) Exercising your rights

If you would like to exercise the rights described above, please contact ContiTech Vibration Control GmbH (Section 1.).
